He proves, by an overwhelming array of evidence that eminent British officials were deep in the plot to [illegible] and that Semmes and his [illegible] were [illegible] little else than agents of [illegible]. We propose to give a resume of his statement.

EARL RUSSELL [illegible]

Earl Russell [illegible] gives an [illegible] of the departure of the Alabama that [illegible] intimation of her designs and determination [illegible] the Government [illegible] to prevent her departure. [illegible] to be read a [illegible] from [illegible] which the last paragraph ran as follows:

"Our [illegible] departure from Liverpool was owing to the fact of news being received to the effect that the customs authorities had orders to board and detain us that morning."

Upon which Earl Russell says:

"That was the fact. However the owner came to be informed of it it is impossible for me to say. There certainly seems to have been treachery on the part of some one furnishing the information."

According then to the declarations of Earl Russell's—which he has substantially reaffirmed some three or four times since on different important occasions, and which have been twice or more most distinctly corroborated by the declaration of Sir Roundell Palmer, the Attorney General of England, and leading law officer of the Crown—an order to stop the Alabama was sent down to Liverpool the day of the Alabama's sailing, and of course put there that day; Liverpool being but five hours from London by rail and in instantaneous communication by telegraph. The Alabama quitted the Liverpool docks at 10 o'clock on the morning of July 29, 1862.

DEPARTURE OF THE PIRATE FROM LIVERPOOL.

When the Alabama put out from the stream, she had on board the two Messrs. Laird, sons of John Laird, member of Parliament (who will be known to posterity—as he seems willing to be—as the father also of the Alabama), the two Misses Laird, his granddaughters, and three or four other ladies and gentlemen, invited guests to make a show of a pleasant party, and was towed down the river by a steam tug, the Hercules. The two steamers went down the Mersey and out toward the Irish Channel together as far as a point fourteen miles distant from the Liverpool docks, and there the pleasure party were transhipped to the Hercules, and the commander of the Alabama made an appointment, as would seem, to return to Liverpool for a large portion of his crew (which probably had not been taken aboard to avoid appearances) and rejoin him in Beaumaris Bay, a little harbor on the Welsh coast, about forty miles distant from Liverpool. The Alabama then slowly proceeded to her rendezvous and the Hercules steamed back to Liverpool. She reached the river at 7 o'clock the same evening, the 29th July, and anchored for the night.

A TENDER RETURNS FOR THE REST OF THE CREW.

The Hercules then, having got back to her usual station, proceeded to fulfil her errand of shipping the remainder of the Alabama's crew and carrying down to her articles of naval or warlike equipment, including what was supposed to be timber for gun carriages. She did not complete her loading during the night, nor until some time in the morning or forenoon of the 30th. [Now I beg my hearers to bear in mind that the British government had promised Mr Adams, as early as July 4th, that the custom-house officials at Liverpool should keep a strict watch on the Alabama, and report any further information that could be obtained concerning her, and that the order to detain the vessel was by this time doubtless in their hands.]

THE AUTHORITIES WARNED.

Meanwhile our vigilant and energetic Consul at Liverpool, Thomas H. Dudley, (whose exertions in counteracting and exposing the movements of rebel sympathizers and abettors seem to deserve—as I doubt not they receive—the highest commendation from our government) getting wind of the movement to ship the remainder of the Alabama's crew and of the whereabouts of the corsair herself, sat down and penned a note to the head of the Liverpool custom house, giving information of what was going on, which was speedily put under his eyes early on the morning of the 30th.

MASTERLY INACTIVITY.

Colonel Dudley's note of course produced some stir in the Liverpool Collector's office. Whether the Collector then telegraphed to London for instructions as to the matter suggested, or whether he was the one who [illegible] in conniving at the final escape of the Alabama, certain it is that the law called upon to do something, for appearance sake, to meet Mr Dudley's pointed notification. At his instance, as would seem, the Surveyor of the Port, Mr. E. Morgan, undertook to answer Mr Dudley's urgent appeal, and instituted some kind of an examination of the tug. Fortunately the Blue Book, published the following March, has left the following result of his labors on record. This is the first time that attention has been called to this document, and so far as I know it is now for the first time reprinted in the United States. I copy from the Blue Book for 186[illegible] entitled "The Alabama, etc." the same last above quoted. Of course, when Congress enters upon a discussion of the Alabama claims, if any such discussion shall hereafter arise, it will order the republication of this and other similar documents now confined to the English parliamentary publications.

THE TENDER ALLOWED TO DEPART.

The following is a copy of a letter from Mr E. Morgan, Surveyor, to the Collector at Liverpool:

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE, July 30, 1862.

SIR—Referring to the steamer built by the Messrs. Laird, which is suspected to be a gunboat intended for some foreign government, I beg to state that since the date of my late report concerning her she has been lying in the Birkenhead docks fitting for sea, and receiving on board coals and provisions for her crew. She left her dock on the evening of the 28th inst., anchored for the night in the Mersey, [illegible] the Canning Dock, and proceeded out of the river on the following morning, ostensibly on a trial trip, from which she has not returned.

I visited the tug Hercules this morning, as she lay at the landing Stage at Woodside, and strictly examined her holds and other parts of the vessel. She had nothing [illegible] of a suspicious character on board, nor any [illegible] ammunition or anything appertaining thereto. A considerable number of persons were [illegible] on deck, some of whom admitted to me that they were a portion of the crew and were going to join the gunboat.

I have only to add that my directions to keep a strict watch on the vessel have been carried out, and [illegible] that she left this port without any part of her armament, and that she had not so much as a signal gun or musket.

It is said that she [illegible] off Point Lynas last night, which [illegible] miles from this port. Very respectfully,

E. MORGAN, Surveyor.

SHE JOINS THE ALABAMA.

The Hercules not being interfered with [illegible] the so-called watch by Surveyor Morgan, went [illegible] without further molestation, and [illegible] the time kept its appointment with the Alabama. [illegible]

[illegible]

It was while lying [illegible] with the Hercules at her side, and while indisputably within British territory, that the Alabama completed the enlistment of her crew preparatory to making war upon the United States. [illegible] Clarence Yonge, the Alabama's paymaster, who was then acting on board her in that capacity, but who afterwards returned to his rightful allegiance, and revealed some of the secrets of the equipment and outfit of the corsair.

"The men signed articles that night (the 30th). They had signed articles before at various times while in Liverpool, but they all came up again and renewed the articles." (Affidavit of April 2d, 1863, communicated to the British Government April 4th. "Blue Book," "North America," 1864, No. 1. "The Alabama," etc., et seq., page 5.) [Note.—Clarence Yonge and some others call that locality Moelfra Bay, some five to ten miles from Beaumaris Bay. But I prefer to follow Capt. Miller, who, from his familiarity with that coast, in plying up and down as a tug master, can hardly be mistaken in calling it Beaumaris.]

THE PIRATE COMPLETES HER EQUIPMENT IN BEAUMARIS BAY.

So that it was on a fine day, within the landlocked bay of Beaumaris, only three or four miles distant from the Welsh coast, and within three hours easy sail of Liverpool, that that hostile expedition which the English customs authorities had promised so faithfully to watch, and of whose intended outfit and departure they had been gratuitously warned by American vigilance, day by day, and almost hour by hour—and which the British government had fully determined to stop, and whose detention, as they allege, they had even ordered, two days previously—was allowed to organize itself and take wings for its distant and desperate career of havoc and plunder. British official documents show that it was upwards of 36 hours after the Alabama dropped down the Mersey before she finally quitted British waters, and that a period of more than 24 hours elapsed between the time that the mandate for her seizure must have reached the Collector of Liverpool and the hour when she put herself beyond British control. The same documents show that something like 16 hours of these last 24 were permitted to escape after the fullest notice was communicated of her whereabouts or of the means of ascertaining it, coupled with the most distinct declaration that "a flagrant violation of neutrality" was about to be perpetrated, and not a finger was raised to prevent it. Nay, that when the offending parties openly avowed their participation and engagement in the manifest infraction of neutrality, Collector Edwards reported to his superiors that the search of the tug had disclosed nothing "that would justify further action on his part."

THE COMPLICITY ESTABLISHED.

It is upon this evidence I charge the British officials with knowingly and willfully tolerating, if not aiding and abetting, in the escape of the Alabama. Escape did I call it? John Laird, her builder, declared in Parliament that her departure was as open as the day; and his counsel (as I suppose I may call ex-Attorney General Cairns) has publicly taunted the ministry, time and again, in Parliament and in the courts of law, with not daring to bring him and the other promoters of the Alabama to justice. I mean the John Laird, whose sons, succeeding to their father's enterprises, made two of the leave-taking "pleasure party," which bid God speed when she launched forth on her dastardly errand, and one of whom paid Clarence Yonge, the Alabama's purser, £300 in British gold, while the merry-making was going on, as the balance due the Confederate Government, after a general settlement of accounts for moneys received to furnish the vessel and to enlist her men. The same John Laird of whom John Russell has said that he would as soon take any suspicious craft, that came out of his shipyard for an honest neutral as he would take the burglar who should be seen coming out of a house at 3 o'clock in the morning with a sack full of plate on his back for the honest master of the mansion.

"A SCANDAL AND REPROACH."

Well may Earl Russell say of other parties in this business that the Alabama escaped by "treachery!" Well may he denounce it, as he has again and again, as "a scandal and a reproach" to British law and British administration of neutrality law! * * * * * * * *

Of course his lordship is referring to these proceedings in Beaumaris Bay, as the Alabama touched at no other point in the British Islands on her way out to the Azores after leaving Liverpool except Beaumaris, unless, indeed, we refer to her touching at the Giant's Causeway on her way round the north of Ireland, where she only lay to, to put ashore her pilot and one other person. And the Foreign Secretary says this, bearing in mind, doubtless, that the British Government had determined to stop her, and had sent the necessary order to Liverpool for that purpose; and yet, notwithstanding that, the steamer Hercules had been permitted to bring down these men, in the face and eyes of that order, and in the face and eyes of Consul Dudley's notice, and in the face and eyes of the men's own confession, that "they were a portion of the crew, and were going to join the gunboat."

Even this latter word "gunboat", in Surveyor Morgan's report, which is given in the original quotation marks, as being the precise phrase used by the sailors, (indeed, in the first sentence of his report, as my readers will have noticed, Mr. Morgan uses the ominous terms "is surpected to be a gunboat") must have thrown his lordship into a cold sweat when he first read them in the original manuscript document. Gunboat means ship-of-war, as was judiciously determined at the jury trial of the Alexandra case, in the Court of Exchequer, where witness after witness was withdrawn to get at the fact whether "so" and "so" spoke of the Alexandra as "a gunboat." And his lordship must have seen at a glance, when he ran over this report, as he virtually admitted in his place in Parliament, that his subordinate had been knowingly and unreservedly committing the British Government to a breach of neutrality.

EARL RUSSELL ARRAIGNED.

Upon this evidence I ask the judgment of my candid readers whether my assertion is not made good, that British officials openly and flagrantly neglected to seize the Alabama and prevent the shipment of her crew, when unequivocally notified of her character and of her continued presence in British waters, and when unequivocally warned of the movements of those engaged in supplying her with a crew, and when a day or more had elapsed since the alleged order for her seizure—according to the highest British authority—must have been in their hands for execution, at the command of their own Government. What think they of the Foreign Secretary's confidence in the justice of his own case, when he has so undeniably and so repeatedly confessed that the Alabama ought to have been stopped on or before the 29th day of July, that orders to that effect were actually issued on that day; that it was owing to official "treachery" that she escaped at all; that it was "a scandal and a reproach" that she should afterwards have been permitted in open daylight to take on board the rest of her crew while lying in a port of Her Majesty's dominions; that her builders and equippers stood in the same category as midnight burglars; that he himself had lent too credulous an ear to the reports of the Collector of Liverpool about the honest neutrality of suspicious Confederate steamers, and that the British Government did right in stopping John Laird from "making war upon the United States" when he had not got half so far along with his rams as he had with the Alabama.

"The Last Relic of Barbarism."

Two or three weeks ago, a bill was introduced in Congress by a member from New York, declaring that as the law enacted for the suppression of polygamy was disregarded in the Territory of Utah, it should be enforced if it required the whole power of the Government to do it. No formal action was taken on the bill, but there is a manifest disposition on the part of Congress to provide some means for the enforcement of the laws, and to treat this last "relic of barbarism" in the same summary manner in which its "twin sister," slavery, has been dealt with.

The law of Congress forbidding polygamy was approved on the 1st of July, 1861. It makes this abominable practice of the self-styled "Saints" an offence punishable by a fine not exceeding $500 and imprisonment not exceeding five years. The same law disapproves and annuls the acts of the so-called State of Deseret, which were dictated by the hierophantic impostors, Young, Kimball, and others; adopted by the pseudo State in 1851, and afterwards re-enacted by the Territorial Legislature in 1855. The tenor of these laws gave support and countenance to polygamy, imparting to the "institution" a character of mysterious sacredness, surrounding it with ceremonial mummery and inculcating the idea that the peculiar doctrine of the "Latter Day Saints," was of a spiritual nature, and that any doubt about its holy origin was a wicked profanation.

Congress thought proper to level another blow at the "institution" by providing in the last section of the same act that we have cited, that no religious corporation in the Territories or other places under the exclusive control of the National Government, should possess and hold real estate to the amount of more than $50,000. In defiance of this law, the Mormon Church is constantly accumulating landed property. This, economically considered, is one of the greatest evils of the system. For hundreds of years there was a strife in England to keep the lands of the kingdom out of ecclesiastical hands. It was felt that there could be no greater detriment to the country than for the ownership of large tracts of land to vested in an ecclesiastical body.

The question to be considered is: How shall the law against polygamy be enforced, and that demoralizing and uncivilizing abomination which—if we except the lewd "Saints" of Deseret—only such barbarians as the Turks and Arabs practice, be broken down? At present these sinful religionists have it all quite their own way. The statute of the United States is disregarded or derided, and there is no means at hand to enforce it. An attempt to convict one accused of polygamy before a Mormon jury, would be a ridiculous farce. Nothing can be done to suppress the evil without the presence of a military force. Some parties do [illegible] propose to divide Utah and attach the several parts to the Territories which surround it; but we do not see how this will be the means of abolishing polygamy. The Mormons will not give it up until they see they will be compelled by actual force to do so. A few regiments of troops quartered at Salt Lake would afford a sufficient display of military power to accomplish the desired end without a resort to violence. Under the protection thus afforded, the civil authorities might proceed to prosecute the polygamous "Saints," and to enforce the laws. Juries would have to be [illegible] from among more enlightened men than the [illegible] of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young. The evil once [illegible], it would be easy to prevent it from being revived.

The refusal of the "Saints" to obey the laws of the United States in this particular, evinces a spirit of rebellion the same in principle as that which the Government had long contended, and which has lately been subdued in other [illegible] of the country. The Mormon rebellion is, it is true, a very diminutive affair, but it exists, and is likely to [illegible] the early attention of the Government. [illegible] great States have lately been chastised into [illegible], and the [illegible] of Utah will be dealt with similarly unless they take counsel of [illegible] and obey the laws. Their freedom of religious worship, of course, will not be interfered with. It is not only required that they shall submit to law and abandon this "the last relic of barbarism."

VERY CONFIDENT.—Because the Legislature adjourned without passing a law to deprive rebels who have borne arms of the right of suffrage, the Confederate Democrat is [illegible] jubilant, and in such issue makes [illegible] predictions to the effect that the [illegible] rebels—will reinforce the "Democracy" to such an extent that that party can carry the State. Sets the propitious gale from that quarter, then? It is just possible that the Democrat, though so very confident, may meet with disappointment. Its estimate of the number of rebel reinforcements its party has received, is far too large. A great Irish orator, some hundred years or more ago said: "Because half a dozen grass-hoppers under a fern make the field ring with their importunate chink, while thousands of great cattle, reposed beneath the shadow of the oak are silent, pray do not imagine that those who make the noise are the only occupants of the field; that of course they are many in number; or that after all they are any other than the little, shriveled, meager, hopping, though loud and troublesome insects of the hour." The editor of the Democrat will see the force of his countryman's words.

IN A NEW CHARACTER.—The polished and versatile Beauregard lately appeared at New Orleans in a character which he had not personated for several years. His first public appearance since the close of the rebellion, was in the capacity of Vice-President of a "Democratic" meeting in the Crescent City. The transition from a rebel General to a leader in the "Democratic" party is easy and natural. We are reminded, by the way that Beauregard and his fellow Confederates supported for Governor of Louisiana the ex rebel Executive, H W Allen, who is now in Mexico and who dares not return to the United States. As an evidence of the style of "Unionism" which prevailed in the Convention of which Beauregard was Vice President, it may be mentioned that when the Chairman, a leading citizen of New Orleans, ventured to remark that secession was a criminal blunder, he was at once hissed and hooted from the stand, and pursued with such rancorous abuse as to induce an attack of apoplexy from which he died the next day. Truly, "reconstruction" is getting on in New Orleans.

FROM SILETZ.—A letter from Siletz informs us that a detachment of First Oregon Infantry, under the direction of Lieut Dunbar, has been to Yaquina Bay to remove trespassers from the Siletz Indian Reservation. The number of persons driven off was about twenty. Several houses erected by them were demolished. This is the second time Lieut Dunbar has arrested the proceedings of these trespassers.

John Stuart Mill has written a notable work reviewing the philosophy of Sir William Hamilton. His object is to refute some of the great metaphysician's theories.

DATES TO JANUARY 5.

Foreign News

NEW YORK, Jan 4—The Hermann from Southampton Dec 30 brings three days news from Europe.

The drain of gold from Paris and Alexandria continues.

There is still an absence of arrivals at Montreal.

Consols are heavy at 87⅝ and 87¼. At bank discount terms it is on full rate but in the street exchange the supply of money remains rather abundant, short advances being offered at 4½a4¾ per cent. The [illegible] are the only gold ships expected, and they are reported to have sailed from Melbourne for England, the former has 98,081 ounces, the latter 111,[illegible] ounces. The Cornwallis is on the way from Sydney with 61,188 ounces.

The Imperial Ottoman bank has issued a prospectus for a Turkish six per cent loan of £6,000,000 and it has been recently at nominal rates negotiated in Paris at 66. U. S. five-twenties have improved to 114.

The cattle disease is spreading, the number of deaths estimated at 10,000. Upwards of 5,000 are attacked every week. There is an extraordinary rise in the price of copper in France in consequence of the Chilean blockade. The Paris Bourse is flat. Rentes 6.80. Saunders' News Letter says it is rumored that Mr. Marquis, Governor of Richmond Bridewell, was dismissed by order of the Lord Lieutenant. The Times' Dublin correspondent believes the rumor correct.

Austria asserts that the treaty of peace between England and Austria has been fully drawn up and will be signed immediately. In Belgium the funeral obsequies of the late King of Belgium took place on the 16th ult. Leopold the Second took the oath to the Constitution before the Belgian Parliament. It is reported that the Lord Lieutenant refused to appoint a commissioner to inquire into the escape of Stevens. The London Morning Star says the first Fenian prisoner put on trial at Cork was Capt McCafferty, who served in the Confederate army and who was a subject of the United States. He was arrested while aboard the steamer from America brought ashore in custody, and his counsel objected that he was an alien, who in his own country could not commit the offense with which he was charged, and who had not set foot on our land so as to be guilty when he was arrested. The judges held that this allegation was fatal to the indictment, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. On account of the cattle plague, the Mayor of Manchester closed the market of that town for eight weeks. The Daily News says a committee has been formed under the title of the Jamaica Committee to push forward official inquiry about to be instituted by the Government into the recent events in Jamaica and to bring a searching parliamentary inquiry into the past and present condition of Jamaica.

The London Times says: Secretary McCulloch's report is a very able document, it being grounded on sound financial principles, and says we recognize in him a real financier. The point in which McCulloch's schemes must strike England most forcibly, is the confidence with which he invites investigation of the executive. Whatever may be the issue or the course of the financial discussion in States during the current session of Congress, it may be watched by us with advantage as those who are in much the same position may learn from the experience of others.

Sir H. Storks, recently appointed Governor of Jamaica, sailed for that place on the 18th. Jamaica commissioners were to sail by the next steamer.

The Times Paris correspondent says: General Schofield returned to Paris after a visit of nine days to London, and purposes spending the winter in Paris.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—The London Shipping Gazette of Dec. 18, says that Stephens, the Fenian leader was not in the employ of government, and that he was appointed by mistake; having been taken, however, it was absolutely necessary to keep up the appearance by confining him to jail, since he was well known to have taken part with the seditious party. When imprisoned, all necessary facilities were given him, and thus he made what is called his mysterious escape. This is only surmise, but it is to a certain extent supported by fact. The Lord Lieutenant refused to appoint a Commission to inquire into the case. On the other hand, the fact that the Governor of Richmond Bridewell, is dismissed, tells somewhat against this, but its supporters allege that advantage was taken of these events to modify the government of Bridewell.

Ex-President Fillmore Gone to Europe

NEW YORK, Jan 5—Ex-President Fillmore and lady will sail to-day in the steamer Europa for Brest, intending to spend the winter in Spain on account of Mrs. Fillmore's health.

Money for the Naval Hospitals.

NEW YORK, Jan 5—The Times Washington special says that there is now deposited in the United States Treasury, to the credit of the Naval Hospital fund for sick and disabled seamen, nearly $10,000,000. The interest on the same is almost sufficient to defray the expenses of hospitals and asylums already established.

Robbers Caught

LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, Jan 4.—A scout in pursuit of the men who robbed Paymaster Ellis' safe of $30,000, overtook them yesterday. All the money was recovered except 5,000. The thieves, when overtaken, took to the bushes and disappeared.

Regulations for the Army

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—The Herald's Washington special says that an increase and reorganization of the regular army and the abolition of the pay of the department, is being considered. It is proposed that Captains of companies draw funds from the Commissary, and that quartermasters pay their men monthly, and the officers are to draw their pay from Commissary, and pay all amounts the same day.

Gould & Curry will pay a dividend of $1,250 per share, on Monday next.

The Savings Loan Society declares a dividend of one per cent for the last five months, and Pacific Insurance Company six per cent per quarter.

General McDowell and staff left for a tour of inspection in Arizona yesterday, by stages via Los Angeles and Fort Mojave. General Whittier and Major Kirkham of Department of the Pacific left by steamer Orizaba to day to join them at Los Angeles. They will probably be present at a grand meeting for a war council among the Maricopa, Pimo, Mojave and Yuma Indians for the purpose of joining the expedition against the Apaches. The Apache chief, for some time a prisoner at Fort McDowell was hanged on the 12th of December by our troops, for the murder of a child.

A correspondent writing from Fort Yuma, Dec 20th says that a general surveyor employed by the Liberal Government of Mexico is engaged surveying all lands found at the head of the Gulf of California and the mouth of the Colorado on both sides. It is asserted that in a short time large settlements will be made on these lands under the supervision of the United States Government. A company of capitalists are fitting out a Chinese colony for the purpose of cultivating the banks of the river. The same representative of the Liberal Government is raising a large force among Mexican immigrants and the Cowpax Indians, and intends to march into the interior of Sonora. The rendezvous for this operation is to be the port of Libertad. This General has already distributed a quantity of arms to the deserters who are being concentrated in small bodies along the Arizona boundary line.

WASHINGTON, Jan 5—Hon William H. Hickey, chief clerk of the United States Senate, died this morning, aged about 70 years. He has been in the employment of that body for 42 years.

Maximilian's Finances.

NEW YORK, Jan 5—A letter from a commercial house dated the City of Mexico Dec 17th says that three loans have been put upon the market since the establishment of the Empire, thus burthening the nation with a new debt of nearly 80,000,000. Of this sum, only about eight millions was used for the public service and Maximilian now has only sufficient to meet expenses during the month of January.

To-morrow evening will be held at Cooper Institute a public meeting of citizens in support of the [illegible] that European powers should not be allowed to intermeddle in American politics.

The "Chivalry" Still Showing their Instincts.

RICHMOND, VA., Jan. [illegible]—There was an exchange of shots to-day in the Hall of the Capitol between Henry Rives Pollard of the Examiner and Wm. D. Coleman of the Enquirer. Six shots were fired without effect. The House of Delegates were in session at the time it occurred, which produced great excitement. The parties were arrested and brought before the House. The difficulty originated in an article published in the Richmond Examiner on the Public Printing.

From the Rio Grande

NEW ORLEANS, Jan 5—The Times Brownsville correspondence of the 30th ult says Gen. R. C. Crawford has arrived at Brownsville with the appointment of General in the Mexican Republican army, with power to recruit an army division for the Republican service under his command. Crawford has established recruiting offices at Brownsville and other places in Texas and enlisting is already progressing rapidly. It is reported that Generals Lew Wallace and Logan are connected with the movement and are soon expected. Carvajal, the famous Mexican filibuster, is expected with a large sum of money to assist in defraying expenses. The Imperialists in Matamoras are considerably troubled. Gen. Mejia has commenced barricading the streets fearing an attack from Crawford's American legion at any time. It is thought Crawford will join Escobados and move on Monterey, establishing his base at that point. A schooner laden with arms and ammunition, consigned to the Purveyor at the headquarters of the twenty fifth corps, went ashore at Bagdad.

Mejia has levied a loan of $100,000 on the merchants of Matamoras.

The military railroad is completed from Brazos to White's ranch. The time from Brownsville to Brazos is only four hours.

Later news says American families are leaving Matamoras and coming to the American side fearing an attack from the Liberal forces, numbering about 2,200 scattering along the river.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan 3—Brownsville accounts say that Crawford has plenty of friends. His chief of staff Col A. P. Reid, is rapidly raising recruits in Brownsville, and enlisting U. S. soldiers still in the U. S. service promising them discharges as soon as the necessary papers can be made out and forwarded. No interference with this has yet been made by our authorities. Recruiting offices are opening in other parts of Texas and one of the recruiting officers informed the Times' correspondent that a force is to come from New York and join that raising on the Rio Grande. The camp is establishing below Brownsville, with sufficient supplies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 9—D. O. McCarthy and S. P. McCarthy, proprietors of the American Flag newspaper commenced suit to recover $20,000 damages for breach of contract from O. M. Clayes, proprietor of the Stockton Independent. Plaintiffs allege that they had succeeded in breaking up the monopoly of overland telegraph news enjoyed by the Bulletin, Alta and Union, and that their own circulation and advertising patronage was greatly increased thereby; that defendant bargained to purchase their interest in the Flag for $28,600, which bargain he afterwards failed to fulfill. Plaintiffs further allege that as soon as it became known to the public that they were about to dispose of their interest in the Flag, their circulation and advertising patronage decreased rapidly, and they claim $20,000 damages from defendant for losses sustained and for breach of contract.

G. & C. DeYoung, publishers of the Daily Dramatic Chronicle, commenced a criminal prosecution for libel to-day against Sheridan Corbyn, the theatrical manager, for publishing an alleged libelous card in the Morning Call, in which he characterized the Chronicle as a black mail, quack advertising sheet. It is said a civil suit for damages will soon be commenced against the Morning Call for publishing the card in question.

David Harris was convicted this morning of voting twice at the last election.

William Culverwell filed an application in insolvency. He made $120,000 in Victoria in 1859, but now finds himself $106,944 30 in debt, with his only assets some $60,000 worth of real estate in Victoria in the hands of his creditors there.

Judge Hoffman to day condemned the bark Passing Cloud for smuggling cigars and teas.

The mining share market is quiet, with but little less tone. There are no very marked variations however.

In the absence of later dispatches, Legal Tenders are nominally 70¼ bid, and 70⅝ asked.

A Chinaman was found dead on a sand hill near Fort Point to day; whether he was murdered or not is unknown.

The Police Court is in session this evening, trying the firemen's riot cases.

It commenced raining at 6 o'clock this evening.

By the arrival of the barque Wannakee we have papers from Honolulu to January 2d. A rumor was current at Honolulu that the United States ship Lancaster, Admiral Pearson might be expected to arrive there, and further, that the Admiral, having sent his family there on board of the D. C. Murray, intends to make the headquarters of the Pacific squadron at that point. The bark Kamehameha, sent to Ascension Island to bring off the sailors of the whalemen burned by the Shenandoah, returned to Honolulu on the 18th of November, bringing all the men in good health.

Miss Lydia Brown, missionary, aged 85 years, who arrived at the Islands in 1835 was burned to death in her house on the 19th of November.

Five more whalers with cargoes of oil and bone had arrived from the Arctic regions.

Stock sales to-day were as follows: Belcher, $150; Alpha, $203; Chollar, $148; Yellow Jacket, $440; Gould & Curry, $900; Savage, $760; Ophir, $305; Imperial, $110; Overman, $46 50; Wide West, $9 50. Very few sales.

WASHOE CITY, Jan. 5—The residence of Senator Charles Lambert was destroyed by fire last night. His two boys were burned to death. Mrs. Lambert and mother were carried from the building both insensible. Lambert was in Carson in attendance on the Legislature.

EASTERN ITEMS.—Late reports from New York give the following:

A letter from Montreal says that at the next session of Parliament, George Brown will urge the purchase of the Northwestern Territory by Canada at the expense of £2,000,000.

A letter from Salt Lake City says the ill feeling between the Mormons and the United States troops is increasing. Many persons are in apprehension of difficulties before the end of winter.

The President has prepared a reply to the resolution of Congress asking for information why Jeff Davis has not been brought to trial. The grounds taken will embrace the legal difficulties heretofore unannounced as in the way of a civil trial.

Since the date of the report of the Comptroller of Currency, eight National Banks have been established in the late rebellious states with an aggregate capital of $1,750,000. The total number of National Banks now in operation in the Southern States is thirty six, with a total paid in capital of over four millions and a half.

For the first time since the surrender of Lee's army no pardon warrants were issued by the Attorney General to day. Applications for pardons have almost ceased and the President is disposing of the cases in the State Department with a prospect of completing the pardon business by spring. About 25,000 applications in all, have been filed in the Attorney General's office since the amnesty proclamation was issued.

The American emigrants, chiefly Southerners, represented by Colonel Wood, have selected a site for a town near Araguay. It lies between two small rivers, and can have railway connection with the Capital. A tract of eight million acres of uncultivated Government land has been selected. It is expected that the flow of emigration from the States comprising the Confederacy will soon set in.

SILVER IN JACKSON COUNTY.—The editor of the Jacksonville Sentinel has seen numerous specimens of silver ore obtained from ledges in that vicinity. The rock promises well. There is much excitement about Jacksonville, in consequence of these discoveries. In time, we think it will appear that that part of our State is extremely rich in gold and silver bearing quartz. That vicinity may again become as famous for the precious metals as it was years ago.

RICH DIGGINGS.—A few days ago Sam and John Taylor commenced to prospect a bar on Applegate, a short distance below the Fowler quartz ledge, by cutting a race from the creek. They cut through the rim rock and in so doing took out about fifteen ounces of coarse gold, varying from the size of a wheat grain to an ounce in weight. They only worked four days. The bar appears to be an old channel of the creek perhaps an eddy, and the boys think they will take out much of the ore. Our hope is that they may not be disappointed, as they are both deserving men.—Jacksonville Sentinel.

Washington dispatches of December 28th, give the following:

Chief Justice Chase, in conversation yesterday is reported to have said that if, when holding the Circuit Court, he should find the case of the United States vs. Jefferson Davis on the docket he would proceed with the case the same as any other; but he should certainly hold no Court in Virginia so long as that State was under military rule.

A. D. Richardson, Junius Brown and William E. Davis, correspondents, who were prisoners at Salisbury (N. C.) for so many months are among the witnesses for the Government in the case of Gee, late rebel commander of that prison, who is now being tried at Raleigh (N. C.) by a Military Commission, on charges of cruelty to prisoners.

It having been generally published that the unpaid claims against the War Department amount to $100,000,000 it is well to state that these claims do not amount to half that sum.

The Colorado Legislature adjourned on December 19th, subject to the call of the Governor upon the admission of the State into the Union. The Legislature ratified the Constitutional Amendment and passed resolutions requesting President Johnson to declare the State in the Union by proclamation, according to the enabling act. If he does not feel authorized to do so the Senators and Representatives elect are to lay an official copy of the proceedings before Congress. A resolution was also adopted favoring the Kansas and Smoky Hill route for the Pacific Railroad. Senators Evans and Chaffee and Representative Chilcott have gone to Washington. The President will probably refer the matter to Congress, considering that the enabling act expired by the refusal of the people of Colorado to organize under it last year. The Legislature changed the seat of Government from Golden City to Denver.

Much has been said about the impropriety and impolicy of giving the negro the ballot, on the ground that, if enfranchised, he would vote with his old master and the "Democratic" party. Petroleum V. Nasby thinks this is a delusive argument. Here are his conclusions on the subject:

> Sum uv our best lites are in favor uv givin him the suffrage on the ground that in a little while we wood git his votes, on the principple that we ketch all the trash naterally. My fears be not deceeved. We hev aboozed the nigger so long and so persistently that it wood take ages afore we cood get him sufficiently demoralized to act with us, and afore that time we would all be in the silent grave, where polly tix is no akount.

PITHY CHARACTERISTIC.—A private letter to a gentleman in this city from a friend in New Orleans whose family resided in this State during the whole war while he fought the nation, contained these words, "The heel of the conqueror bears heavily upon us, but our sentiments are unchanged, we bide our time." The letter was read to a distinguished Southerner, formerly an extreme secessionist, whose only commentary was, "What a donkey!"—New York Evening Post.

THE ROADS AND THE DAILY MAIL.—Quincy A. Brooks, United States Postal Agent for Oregon, [illegible] returned from an official tour to the southern portion of the State. We quote the following in reference to the roads and the daily mail from the Albany Journal: In [illegible] to the price asked by the stage company for carrying the mails in the late letting, the company regard the almost impassible condition of the roads through [illegible] as the chief reason that the price demanded by them was only a reasonable compensation for the service [illegible], of course, is impelled by the facts in the [illegible] guilty to the [illegible] condition. The roads [illegible] question arises about the people of Oregon [illegible] the continuance of the daily mail by repairing and [illegible] the stage road in something like a passable condition. Quincy A. Brooks, Postal Agent for Oregon, [illegible] and Idaho, called at our office last week, as [illegible] on his return from an official visit to the different [illegible] south of here. He says "that the roads are in a [illegible] condition. In many places it is almost impossible for the stage to pass. On South Umpqua, where the [illegible] occurred last winter, and one man lost [illegible] the road has not been repaired so but that it is [illegible] for the stage to pass. The bridge across [illegible] is dangerous, and in many other places imme[illegible] are needed. The fault in this matter lies [illegible] people of the different road districts through [illegible] the stage road passes. There is scarcely a district [illegible] whole route through the State where there are not [illegible], mud holes, creek banks, etc., which are now [illegible] and difficult to pass. This is wrong, and it is [illegible] of not working the road in the proper season. [illegible] to our road laws, the supervisor of a road district [illegible] authority to call out hands at any time to re[illegible] or any part of the road under his jurisdiction, [illegible] may be injured by sudden floods or from any other [illegible]. There is, therefore, no excuse for a supervisor [illegible] allows the roads which he controls to become al[illegible] ble and permits them to remain in that con[illegible]. Mr Brooks is very anxious that the daily mail [illegible] be continued, and it is his opinion if the stage [illegible] put in as good condition as is within the power of [illegible] of the districts through which it passes, that [illegible] will be taken at the price offered by the De[illegible]. It is certainly a matter that should receive [illegible] of all who wish to secure a continuation [illegible] daily mail service, without which the best interests of the whole State will decline." Very much uneasiness and [illegible] among the people [illegible] by the uncertainty of the continuance of the [illegible]. It may be well to urge that these matters of roads [illegible] better attention immediately. The California [illegible] assert on what is considered trustworthy evi[illegible] that it is the intention of the Postmaster General [illegible] the daily service in about four months, [illegible] which we shall have no mail, or what is worse only [illegible] or semi weekly affair. This is a question well [illegible] of considerable attention, and no time is to be [illegible] all that can be done to avoid the sacrifice.

[illegible] OUTRAGE.—One of the latest items is that of the [illegible]. A correspondent, writing from St. John's, [illegible] the Nazarines were about to assemble there [illegible] last for public worship, they found the school [illegible] against them by some unknown barbarian, [illegible] to the spread of republicanism and reli[illegible], but, after prayer and a brief consultation [illegible] on the outside, the door came open [illegible], and in they walked. As they were about [illegible] God with all the strength [illegible] unknown tongues" they were suddenly dis[illegible] being in [illegible] shape who [illegible] to have [illegible] by the spirit of Jo. Smith, and after [illegible] lofty tumbles the congregation dispersed [illegible], each one taking himself to his own [illegible] it preferable to a Nazarine gathering. [illegible] Our informant states that the matter was [illegible] a riot. We are without light as to this [illegible], but learn incidentally that it is an off[illegible] such as Alden McAllister, the [illegible] was under arrest in this city yester[illegible] be tried to-day before Justice Hoffman [illegible] to commit polygamy by marry[illegible] of Multnomah County, having [illegible]. The [illegible] of the Naz[illegible] by McAllister has [illegible] the [illegible] districts. At Union [illegible] miles West of this city, one hundred [illegible] themselves within a short time [illegible] only in "unknown tongues," and but [illegible] is, so far as we are yet able to learn.

[illegible] LECTURE.—We were unable to attend [illegible] church on Friday evening, but are [illegible] was [illegible] at that a very [illegible] delivered [illegible] upon the "Rule [illegible] Right Rev. Bishop Scott. The position [illegible] of Rome, that the bible must neces[illegible] its control as an infallible in[illegible] refuted as absurd. Thus the [illegible] writings by the same church, [illegible] the faithful [illegible] of being in that which [illegible]. Why this was so they do not satisfac[illegible]. The advocates of the Papal power claim [illegible] must receive sanction [illegible] who can only be found in the confession [illegible] Pope is [illegible] Vicegerent of Christ— [illegible] with the Saviour. This last proposition [illegible], and uttered a scath[illegible] in the [illegible] orators of it. The principal [illegible] taken against the [illegible] of it [illegible] they deal altogether in [illegible] and [illegible] that they mystify and confuse [illegible] the [illegible] truths of [illegible] writings that are [illegible] for the good of [illegible] and the guiding [illegible] rule [illegible]. Our [illegible] regrets exceedingly that his [illegible] was such that he could not hear all of the lec[illegible] he may yet see it published, as it was [illegible] the most able [illegible] upon the points ad[illegible] had ever heard.

[illegible] VISIT.—Rev H. K. Hines, of the Van[illegible], has lately been on a visit to Victoria [illegible], from which we extract the following [illegible] is a place of nearly the size of Port[illegible] not at present enjoying the pros[illegible]. The Victorians are making strenu[illegible] the trade from Cariboo to the upper [illegible] that place, and with the late [illegible] will do it if it can be done [illegible] Yankee but are too quick for [illegible] of our big beef-eating neigh[illegible] to come out ahead. Our stay at [illegible] by the courtesy of Dr [illegible] carriage and driver and took us [illegible] tour through the environs of the city [illegible] even [illegible] native [illegible] were not afraid nor [illegible] to ex[illegible] of our country and [illegible] time would soon come when British [illegible] be [illegible] the flag of the United States."

[illegible] COURT—DEADY J.—Tuesday, [illegible] Tracy vs. Crawford—Action to recov[illegible] tax upon assaying; demurrer to [illegible]. The secret of this action, which [illegible] upon the surface, is, that the value [illegible] estimated in greenbacks, the same [illegible] tax was paid in. Defendant had leave [illegible], judg[illegible] on the answer. Held that a pro[illegible] garnishee only extended to personal [illegible], and that lands or interest in [illegible] applied to the payment of debts, by [illegible] the garnishee was not [illegible]. This is [illegible] action [illegible] he was then liable to the [illegible] The [illegible] was after [illegible] out in.

[illegible] TOWN.—To those who daily walk does [illegible] very often to the upper part of Front [illegible] be very striking. A [illegible] is either in course of [illegible] or under [illegible] nearly every other lot on the street above [illegible] street. May we not justly consider [illegible] of Front street last summer is the [illegible] business and flattering prospect [illegible] in that direction? We are the more firmly [illegible] this is so when we see, among those mov[illegible] men who have [illegible] their former [illegible] on such sites were not inspired.

[illegible] ACADEMY.—On Monday evening we paid a [illegible] the [illegible] school class of Mr Cardinell, [illegible] story of Raleigh's building. He has a really [illegible], which is being considerably augmented [illegible] on Monday and Thursday even[illegible] each week. The scholars display considerable [illegible] and we could but feel that the Academy was [illegible] place for young men and ladies to spend an [illegible]. Mr Cardinell's scholars will be much better [illegible] to make an appropriate appearance at general [illegible] than those who have not been instructed in [illegible].

[illegible] B.—We were pleased last evening to meet [illegible] Lieut. C. H. Hill, of Company [illegible] Oregon Infantry, who returned by the [illegible] with the company yesterday. The [illegible] be mustered out of service soon, and return [illegible] in this county. They are all in excellent [illegible], notwithstanding their rough journey, are [illegible] good spirits.

Metzger Secretary; Louis Water[illegible] Lowenstein, 8 W; M Mock, 1st [illegible], 2d T W; Paul Richter, 7 W [illegible] Goldsmith, H W Hyman and Leopold [illegible].

AN ECONOMICAL ICE HOUSE.—Ice during the summer is one of the greatest luxuries and is often better [illegible] than forty doctors. According to Dr Hall ice is a better life preserver than pills. A correspondent of the New Yorker, after having long perplexed himself in trying to save ice through the season, finally settled down in security and comfort [illegible] following, which we recommend for its cleanliness and efficiency. A year [illegible] ago I had my attention called to an ice house built by a farmer [illegible] which was simply a [illegible] wall rough boards [illegible] and roofed [illegible] leaving a large opening at the [illegible]. He said [illegible] kept perfectly [illegible] the [illegible] stack. I [illegible] the ice snugly in the center [illegible] from the walls [illegible] filled [illegible] sawdust [illegible] over the top a foot or more thick. Last winter [illegible] all [illegible] determined to try [illegible] the inside wall [illegible] saw dust the [illegible] by stacking snugly in the center 15 to [illegible] from the wall. This space I filled in with pine saw dust and covered the whole over the top about a foot thick or more. I left out the window before mentioned and took down my door and left it all open so the sun can shine in there every day. Now for results. At the present time I have an abundance of ice and the cakes seem to come out as square and perfect as when they went in, seemingly nothing lacking except what is used out. I am satisfied how to build an ice house.

FROM THE DALLES.—The steamer Cascade returned to her dock last evening having reached the Cascades and brought a large number of passengers and a very heavy treasure from the Dalles. The steamer Idaho has [illegible] trips to a point above the Cascades about four miles on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. On Thursday, unless it should freeze in the meantime, the Cascade will again leave this city and the Idaho will leave the Dalles connecting at the Cascades.

THE OWYHEE.—The O S N Company have advices that the steamer Owyhee, which was frozen in below Umatilla recently, had returned to that place on Christmas day.

SENT TO JAIL.—John Driscoll, in default of payment of fine for assaulting John Wilson imposed by Justice H[illegible] man yesterday, was sent to jail for ten days.

THE Active was telegraphed to leave Victoria to day for Portland.

RICHARDSON'S BOOK.—A copy of Albert D. Richardson's book "The Field, the Secret Service, the Dungeon and the Escape" has been left on our table by Mr T H Mills, agent for the work for this city and county. This book establishes Mr Richardson's reputation as a close observer and elegant writer. No book of the day is sought for with greater avidity, and no narrative of the war and of individual experiences throughout the great struggle is more readable—not to say positively captivating. Every phase of the great rebellion from the secret conspiracies in which it originated, to the close of the conflict is graphically delineated in this book. A canvasser for the work will visit different parts of the city this week—beginning to-day. A good opportunity is thus presented to obtain a work which can not fail to be of interest to all readers, old and young.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY.—The Sacramento Union has the following remarks on the "rose water policy" of President Johnson:

The assassination of the merciful Lincoln, in the midst of his projects for amnesty and magnanimity, was a fearful warning to the nation against the adoption of a milder policy. How has the President satisfied these demands? A single subordinate agent—a friendless foreigner—has been hung on account of his connection with the fourteen thousand murders at Andersonville! Jeff Davis, the Satanic chief of the rebellion, is in comfortable quarters at the Carroll House, Fortress Monroe. South Carolina has been handed over to the very same men who plotted, for thirty years, the destruction of the Union, and who, when assembled in Convention, were pardoned in a lump by the President without even applying for clemency. Throughout the South prominent traitors are permitted to take office, and their estates have been restored. Slavery has been prohibited by an amendment of the Constitution, but so far as the negroes or even the white loyalists, from enjoying freedom and security, that it is imperatively necessary to maintain martial law and the Freedmen's Bureau. Hence the rising indignation of the North and the determination of its representatives to check that spirit of conservatism which can [illegible] nothing but what should be despised, branded and destroyed.

FROZEN.—We have news from Capt. Borland's Company of Oregon Infantry, which we hope is exaggerated. It seems that the company marched from Camp Lyon, in the Owyhee country some weeks since, to come down the Columbia river to be mustered out of service. In coming down Snake river, the command was out in the late severe weather, and some twenty of the men had their hands, feet and ears badly frozen. It is feared that more than a dozen of them will have to submit to amputations more or less serious. The men were halted on Powder river until arrangements could be completed for the treatment of the injured men. This is one of the results of ordering in the Volunteers in the worst season of the year, and by it a dozen men are turned out on the world crippled.—Mountaineer.

A NEW LODE.—A new lodge says the Idaho World of the 16th of December has very recently been discovered about three and a half miles above Pioneer City, in Boise county, which is said to be about two-thirds silver. It crosses the Big Muddy from south west to north east and is about twelve feet wide. We have not learned the name as yet but the discoverers are elated with their future prospects in life to a degree which can hardly be surpassed by owners in "Poorman" at Owyhee.

The Reconstructionist is the title of a new weekly issued in Washington City by Mrs Jane G. Swisshelm. Mrs S. is a frank, spicy writer and is likely to tell some truth that does not find access to Washington journals generally.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—To whom it may concern.—Thousands of lives are annually sacrificed for want of properly directed and timely use of the only remedy that will surely check incipient consumption. Delay is dangerous and may end in death. Why then put off the immediate use of Newell's Pulmonary Syrup—a strictly scientific and efficient remedy for all lung complaints.

DON'T BELIEVE THEM.—If any one tell you that they know a better remedy for coughs and colds than the genuine Hall's Pulmonary Balsam don't believe it. There is no better remedy as any one who has ever used it can testify.

Soldiers becoming disabled or diseased while in the service are entitled to a Pension. Those who served in any war previous to the 30th of March 1855 are entitled to Bounty Land. Those who served in the Navy during the late war, and were legally attached to a vessel or squadron on duty, although not participating in the taking of prizes, are entitled to Prize Money. In many Indian Treaties provision is made for payment of Spoliation Claims out of Annuities. To collect the large number of such claims now owned in this country—for the settlement of which no similar provision has been made by treaty, demand should be made at once therefor at the proper Department, and if found just, recommendation will be made to Congress to pass an act retaining the amount thereof out of the Annuities.

WRITERS OF THE SEVENTH CENTURY.—The writers were few and intellectual; and they addressed themselves to learned, or, at least, to studious and diligent readers. The structure of their language is in itself an evidence that they counted upon another frame of mind and a different pace and speed in reading, from that which can alone be looked to by the writers of these days. Their books were not written to be snatched up, run through, talked over and forgotten; and their diction, therefore, was not such as lent wings to haste and impatience, making everything so clear that he who ran or flew might read. Rather it was one constructed as to detain the reader [illegible] and profound, and to compel him to that [illegible] in the mind, by which, if he had wings, they might help him to some more genial and profitable employment than that of running like an ostrich through a novel.—Taylor's "Notes from Life."

NOT SATISFIED.—Oregon should have about ten times her present population to become a respectable State, and yet some of the professional politicians and office mongers, are demanding a division of the State. The idea of dividing a State that is entitled to only one Representative in Congress now, with no prospect of another soon, is so palpably absurd, that they talk of making a State out of the country east of the mountains, and compensating Oregon for the loss of that section by extending the State from California to British Columbia. That would make a State about five hundred miles long, and (the habitable portion of it) thirty to fifty miles wide. Could anybody make a map of that "neck o' woods?" The country north of the Columbia was detached from Oregon on the ground that the river is the natural boundary, and so, it would be again if it should become a part of this State.—State Journal.

WISCONSIN.—Every county in Wisconsin, says the Tribune, has now been officially heard from, except Pepin, which will add a hundred or two to Fairchild's majority. In four or five of the smaller counties the official majorities only are reported. According to our footings, the vote stands 57,340 for Fairchild to 47,550 for Hobart, Fairchild's majority, 9,790. The vote on the Constitutional Amendment stands 45,826 for, to 53,730 against, thus defeating it by 8,110 majority. A few soldiers' votes were cast, which will add nearly 1,000 to Fairchild's majority, and will not materially change the majority against suffrage extension.

JEFF DAVIS A MARTYR.—The New York World, a Copperhead organ, has the impudence to say?

"If Mr. Davis should be led to the scaffold tomorrow he could go with head erect, and without a stain of shame upon his record, in the consciousness that those for whose sake and at whose bidding he led the cause for which he suffered, appreciated the sacrifice and would hold his memory sacred as a treasure to themselves and a precious legacy to their children."

The Intelligencer, which makes itself the organ of those reconstructed rebels who hope to get into Congress by a repeal of the oath, is bitterly exorcised over Speaker Colfax's late speech. [illegible] passed resolutions heartily indorsing it.

Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be, and they are hereby instructed to use their influence to secure the appropriation and payment of said claims, principal and interest respectively, by the Congress of the United States.

Adopted, December 5, 1865.

House Joint Resolution, No. 2.

Whereas, The Legislature of this State, at its last session, passed a law authorizing the Governor of the State to have his message printed [illegible] of the Legislature, prior to the meeting of the Legislature, and

Whereas, The Governor had printed by the State Printer, in accordance with such law, one hundred copies of his message and accompanying documents this day submitted: therefore,

Be it resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That the five hundred copies printed be accepted from the State Printer, for the use of the members of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Adopted, December 6, 1865.

House Joint Resolution, No. 6.

Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That the report of the state printer, submitted at this session, be referred to a joint special committee, consisting of three members on the part of the House and three from the Senate, to investigate the cause of the delay of the public printing; and also be it further

Resolved, That the said committee be authorized to call for persons and papers to aid in the investigation of said delay.

Adopted, December 6, 1865.

House Joint Resolution, No. 8.

Be it Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That no new business shall be introduced into either branch of this Legislature, after Wednesday, the 13th instant.

Adopted, December 15, 1865.

House Joint Resolution, No. 9.

Whereas, The people residing in the county of Grant, and a large portion of Wasco, in the state of Oregon, as well as a large district of country in the territory of Idaho, on the line of the wagon road between Dalles City, Oregon, via Canyon City to Boise City, Idaho, a distance over three hundred miles, through a district of country thickly inhabited and entirely destitute of mail facilities; and especially the people of Grant county are deprived of any kind of postal advantages, it being distant from the county seat of said county to the nearest post office, one hundred and eighty miles, there not being a mail route established in said county of Grant: therefore be it

Resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, That our senators and representative in Congress are hereby requested to use their influence and best efforts to have daily mail service established between the points named, with intermediate post offices established at such points as Canyon City and others, as the wants of the people may demand.

Adopted, December 9, 1865.

House Joint Resolution, No. 11.

Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That the Senate meet the House in the hall of the House in joint convention, on Wednesday, December 13, at 3 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of electing a penitentiary commissioner in the place of Col. T. R. Cornelius, who has not qualified as said commissioner.

Adopted, December 13, 1865.

House Joint Resolution, No. 12.

Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That there be a joint judiciary committee, composed of the judiciary committee of both houses, and all business heretofore referred to such committee by either house shall be acted on by the same.

Adopted, December 15, 1865.

House Joint Resolution, No. 13.

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Oregon, the Senate concurring: That whereas, The contract as now let for carrying the mails between Lincoln, California, and Portland, Oregon, requires that the heavy paper mails for Salem, Albany, Oregon City, Astoria, and the Dalles, (weighing from three to five thousand pounds) shall be carried over the overland route through rain, mud and snow, upon the mountains, during the rainy season of winter months; and

Whereas, It is impossible for any company to bring such weight over such roads, without serious damage to the paper mail, as well as frequent and long detention; and

Whereas, We believe that arrangements can be made by the contractors on this route with the steamers plying between San Francisco, California, and Portland, Oregon, for the transportation of said heavy mails to Portland by water, on the arrival of the Panama steamer; therefore,

Resolved, That we urge upon our senators and representative in Congress, to lay the matter before the post master general, and urge upon him the necessity of permitting the contractors to make such arrangements with the steamship line as may be satisfactory to the post office department, during the [illegible] of such contract; and that whenever a new contract is let, it shall permit the contractor to send the paper mail, for the winter months, by the steamship lines of steamships running between San Francisco, California, and Portland, Oregon. Provided, That nothing in this resolution shall be so construed as to permit the contractors to carry the said paper mail otherwise than as now carried, from points south of Eugene City.

Resolved, That the secretary of state be, and is hereby directed immediately after the adjournment of the legislature, to have certified copies of this resolution forwarded to our representatives in Congress.

Adopted, December 16, 1865.

Senate Joint Memorial, No. 1.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled: Your memorialists, the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, would respectfully represent that, in their opinion, the passage of any law by congress imposing a tax upon mining, diminishing the right of mining upon the public lands of the United States, other than upon gold bars, and the general income tax already in force, would be greatly detrimental to the interests of that portion of our country now engaged in developing the rich mineral resources of our country, without resulting in any benefit to the general government, and at the same time would work a manifest injustice to those hardy and enterprising prospectors and miners who deserve encouragement and protection of the government. Your memorialists represent that all the products of mining are already made to pay tribute to the income tax, and it would be contrary to the principles of justice to tax the ore, both before and after it is separated from the earth in which it is found imbedded. Nor do they think it right or expedient to tax the muscle of the hardy laborer for the simple right of working to better his own condition in this branch of industry, which so often rewards his long years of honest toil with dross (instead of gold) and rags and poverty.

Adopted, December 12, 1865.

House Memorial, No. 1.

To the Honorable Members of the Legislature of Washington Territory: Your memorialists, the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, would respectfully ask that your honorable body adopt, during the present session, some law similar to the act passed by the Legislature of Oregon in 1861, a copy of which is hereunto annexed.

This act was intended to encourage any one who felt disposed to place a steam tug on the Columbia river bar, by giving such tug the exclusive right of pilotage across the same.

Since the passage of the act aforesaid, Captain Corno and others have built and amply supplied with good and competent pilots, a powerful steam tug, capable of towing in or out, all vessels trading in the waters of this collection district, with safety and dispatch.

This tug, the Rabboni, has now been doing efficient service for several months at the mouth of the Columbia river, and has been, so far as the laws of Oregon and the action of pilot commissioners under these laws could do so, secured in her rights and privileges under the laws, and protected from interference by the old pilots, who have only a sail vessel for a pilot boat, and which is entirely incompetent to render such timely and efficient aid as the commercial interests of both Oregon and Washington demand.

Your memorialists do not consider it necessary to enter into a lengthy argument to satisfy your honorable body that the commercial interests of both your own territory and of our State, demand at our hands such legislation as will secure, in the best possible manner, the safe and speedy transit across the Columbia bar, of all vessels entering or clearing, laden with valuable cargoes and precious lives. The frightful losses and appalling calamities which within no lengthy period have occurred, from the want of a good steam tug at Astoria, to take the place of the old pilot boat, which being merely a sail vessel, was much of the time entirely unfitted for the demands of her responsible position, suggested to the legislature of Oregon the imperative necessity of passing an act which might remedy these serious difficulties. The steam tug Rabboni has been built at a heavy cost, and placed upon duty at the mouth of the Columbia river, under the full conviction, on the part of her owners, that the people of Oregon and Washington would secure to her, by every necessary provision of law, the exclusive privilege of pilotage at that point.

The present limited commerce of this part of the country is barely enough to render a reasonable support to the steam tug, when legally invested with a right to demand all the pilotage. Divide this pilotage, as is now being done, between the new and the old pilots, and the inevitable result must be that the steam tug, which is not now paying expenses, must sooner or later be driven from her present position, leaving the floating commerce of the country at the mercy of the winds and waves, in the hands of men who cannot be efficient conductors of it, even if they would.

The old pilots, upon having their branches revoked [illegible] of the new, by the pilot Commissioners of Oregon, immediately applied to the board of pilot Commissioners in Pacific county, Washington Territory, a majority of which they induced, for reasons unknown to us, to issue branches to men who, by their present [illegible] against the steam tug, we regard as the enemies of the commercial prosperity of a section, the interests of which it is the right and duty of both our legislatures to protect.

Your memorialists would, therefore, most respectfully ask at your hands such legislation as you, in your wisdom, may deem sufficient to [illegible] in protecting a worthy and common interest: as in duty bound will ever pray.

Adopted, December 9, 1865.

House Joint Memorial, No. 1.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled: Your memorialists, the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, would respectfully represent that, inasmuch as a large number of the citizens of Walla Walla county, in the territory of Washington, have expressed to this assembly their earnest desire that such county be annexed to, and included within the jurisdiction of this State, therefore your memorialists pray your honorable body to incorporate the county of Walla Walla in the State of Oregon, so that the boundaries of this State may conform to those embraced in the constitution thereof, as adopted by the people.

Adopted, December 12, 1865.

THE STANDARD AMERICAN BILLIARD TABLES!

AND COMBINATION CUSHIONS.

MESSRS. PHELAN & COLLENDER

WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENTION of persons wanting Billiard Tables to the great superiority of the above tables, manufactured exclusively by this establishment.

At the Billiard Congress of 1863, composed of all the first-class players of America, it was unanimously resolved that tables of our manufacture should be used at all matches for the Championship [illegible].

These Billiard Tables have received the unqualified approval of the best players and most competent judges, who have universally acknowledged their unequaled for general excellence and durability.

Seven distinct patents for improvements in Billiard Tables have been granted to us by the United States Patent Office, and we have lately obtained a Patent from the French Government, for our improvement in Billiard Cushions.

We [illegible] a variety of machines specially made for the purpose, by means of which we are enabled to insure a scientific and mechanical accuracy hitherto unknown in Billiard manufacture.

Having a long experience and thorough knowledge of all the appliances of Billiards, and constantly on hand a large stock of the best and most thoroughly seasoned materials, we are prepared to furnish everything required in the Billiard line with unprecedented dispatch.

The eminent French Billiard Player, M. Berger, has published the following opinion:

"NEW YORK, 1st August, 1859.

[illegible] to declare to all amateurs of Billiards that, after a tour of eleven months through the principal cities, I have been enabled to form a satisfactory opinion of the superiority of the Billiard Tables manufactured by Phelan & Collender. The system of manufacturing is so superior, that I am happy to introduce the style of cushion into France. They have united in their manufacture of American Billiard Tables that of the French Tables, of remarkable excellence and beauty. For these reasons, I am happy to make this declaration.

BERGER, CLAUDIUS,
Prof. of Billiards, Paris."

Parties ordering from us will find our prices as low as good work can possibly be made for. We sell first-class articles at a fair price, and will not make an inferior article at any price.
